- When the number of first-choice applicants does not reach the limit, the second-choice will be considered for admission, and so on, until the quota for that subject is reached or the entire class is allocated.
- When the first-choice is a popular subject, even if the quota for the first-choice has been reached, there is still a chance for the second-choice to study that subject, provided that it competes based on the subject selection ranking.

1. 在 2019 冠狀病毒病的影響下，某些酒店應用了「全面優質服務(TQS)」概念，採用不同的方法和策略，改進酒店的組織流程，以滿足顧客的期望。另一些酒店則成為「指定檢疫酒店」，為行業從業員帶來新挑戰。
- (a) 根據「全面優質服務(TQS)」概念，指出並描述其中五個策略，並就每個策略，各舉一例說明管家部員工如何可以提升服務質素。 (10 分)
- (b) 就顧客流程的每個階段，提出兩項「指定檢疫酒店」可採用的不同措施，以預防 2019 冠狀病毒病在酒店的傳播。 (8 分)

1. With the impact of COVID-19, some hotels have applied the concept of 'Total Quality Service (TQS)', using different methods and strategies to improve the organisational processes of the hotel, in order to meet the expectations of customers. Other hotels have turned into 'Designated Hotels for Quarantine', creating new challenges for industry practitioners.
- (a) State and describe five strategies based upon the concept of 'Total Quality Service (TQS)'. For each strategy, give an example of how housekeeping staff can enhance service quality. (10 marks)
- (b) Suggest two different measures to be taken by 'Designated Hotels for Quarantine' in each phase of the Guest Cycle to prevent the spread of COVID-19 in the hotel. (8 marks)

1. (a) Any five of the following strategies, with a description and an example of how housekeeping staff can enhance service quality:

Strategies	Example
- Value the customer A simple thank you helps - it can be face-to-face, over the phone or written (1)	- Example: place a welcome card inside the guest room with the guest's name, thanking them for their stay (1)
- Find and remove problems Find out if you are doing a good job, and if there are problems react quickly. Your ultimate goal should be to try and fix problems before the customer complains (1)	- Example: housekeeping can encourage guests to use in-room guest-operated devices / mobile apps to send requests and comments to the department directly. Housekeeping can then respond promptly and provide services to the guests if needed (1)
- Show competitive differences Make sure the customer knows they made the right decision to stay at your hotel, how your company is different from the competition, and why you stand out (1)	- Example: room attendants are required to remember the names of the guests they take care of on their floor and greet them using their last name(s) if they come into contact with them (1)
- Take responsibility for customer problems Customers do business with the people who represent the company. If a customer has a problem, and you are the person who receives that information, it is your responsibility to see it through. Guarantee your products and/or services (1)	- Example: use a 'butler' approach, i.e. each guest room is assigned a particular member of staff (the 'butler') who can be reached directly if any assistance is needed (1)
- Appreciate everyone in the buying process As well as the people you normally deal with others, such as children, assistants, secretaries or even a committee, may be involved in the buying process. If they make or influence the decision it is important to make them feel special too (1)	- Example: tailored necessities/special gifts for children staying with parents, such as child-size slippers, tableware, crayons and candies to be placed inside guest rooms (1)

2. Blindly following the crowd

- "All my friends have chosen that class, so I want to follow them."
